Kristin McLane Assumes Majority Ownership of CIMx

Cincinnati, OH (6/2008): CIMx proudly announced this week that Kristin McLane is now the majority owner of the Company. Two years ago McLane made the shift to President of CIMx and has since made great strides in stimulating incremental growth. By assuming majority ownership, CIMx is now a woman-owned business, one of only a few in the Aerospace and Defense market.

Her individual successes include being named one of Cincinnati's Top Forty Under 40 in the Cincinnati Business Courier in 2006. Since being appointed the position of President, she has also been named the Vistage® 325 Entrepreneur of the year in 2007. Her leadership within the community as well as the company continues the trend of growth.

This is an exciting time for CIMx as they have just past their 12th anniversary mark and are now an independent, woman-owned business. The new structure creates a unique opportunity to continually grow within the Aerospace and Defense manufacturing world. "Having Kristin as majority owner fits with the growth and evolution of our company by providing current and prospective customers with capable leadership focused on improving US manufacturing operations," says CEO Tony Cuilwik.

About CIMx – The CIMx software solution creates a paperless manufacturing environment. CIMx software streamlines manufacturing operations by removing the source of errors and lost productivity across the shop floor. In a time of increasing global competition, U.S. manufacturers gain an edge that helps keep work right here. Throughout our history, the CIMx philosophy remains constant – make it affordable, make the implementation seamless and make the support capabilities as efficient as possible.
